Special Craft P&I

Speciality versus speciality

The offshore industry is a highly dynamic market. It is a world in which specialised professionals use unique, innovative vessels to perform special tasks. Naturally, owners of these specialised vessels require equally special insurance cover to fit their unique requirements. This calls for an insurer with extensive experience, a flexible approach and a detailed understanding of the latest developments affecting the market.

Widely recognised for our experience and expertise, MS Amlin has played a leading role in this market for many years.

With a strong focus on specialised tonnage, we help shipowners protect their assets and limit their liability exposure.

This includes vessels involved in (but not limited to):

- Dredging
- Off-shore
- Support/supply
- Anchor-handling
- Heavy lift
- Contracting and towage

Global team

We have a large team of dedicated underwriters and claims handlers. This highly focused approach sets us apart. And because we are prominent both in local markets and internationally, we can service our insureds in the best possible way – wherever they are.
